

Brake & Clutch Peddle Rubbers

Lachlan May

In regards to passing the annual registration check, I was unsure if rubbers on the peddles would be an issue. Despite it appearing to be almost a standard feature of Morgans that the peddles are bare metal. I decided that a rubber cover was necessary. I also didn't want to pay the high cost for rubbers + freight, from some of the well-known English suppliers of Morgan parts.

My solution to the issue was to fit some self-adhesive rubber strip, cut to shape (available at Bunnings) as shown in the photos. As it turned out, they were not checked. The brake peddle strip subsequently moved under usage, but I fixed it in place with some Tarzan's Grip.
